Recreating Sporting Memories: Ministry of Sports and Ministry of Culture Join Forces to Transform Asian Games Legacy into National Cultural Assets

The Ministry of Sports (MOS), the Ministry of Culture (MOC), and the National Museum of Taiwan History (NMTH) have jointly launched the “Asia on the Field: Taiwan and the Asian Games Special Exhibition”, which officially opened on May 6. Minister of Sports Lee Yang and Minister of Culture Li Yuan attended the opening ceremony, noting that the exhibition marks another milestone in inter-ministerial collaboration following initiatives such as the Youth Sports Voucher × Cultural Coin Program and the Double Million Sports Comics Selection. The exhibition also reflects the MOS's commitment to preserving Taiwan's sporting heritage, strengthening public engagement, and transforming valuable historical materials into cultural assets shared by all.

Minister Lee stated that, as a former athlete who competed in two Asian Games and earned bronze medals, he had long looked forward to this exhibition. He noted that the path of an athlete—from intense training and setbacks to perseverance and recovery—reflects many of the challenges people face in life. He encouraged the public to visit the exhibition and gain a deeper understanding of athletes' personal stories and emotional journeys. Looking ahead to the Nagoya Asian Games this September, Minister Lee emphasized that the event is more than just an international sporting competition; it is also an opportunity for Taiwan to showcase its strengths on the global stage. Through the exhibition and the stories of sporting pioneers such as decathlete Yang Chuan-kwang (Maysang Kalimud), visitors can revisit the moments when Taiwan earned international recognition and express their support for the nation's athletes.

- ▶ The Ministry of Sports, Ministry of Culture, and National Museum of Taiwan History jointly curate the “Asia on the Field: Taiwan and the Asian Games Special Exhibition”

Minister of Culture Li pointed out that the exhibition presents not only athletic achievements but also the broader transformations of postwar Asia. He noted that sport serves as an important form of cultural expression and highlighted the extensive collaboration already undertaken between the MOC and the MOS. This exhibition exemplifies the two ministries' commitment to cross-disciplinary cooperation.

He further emphasized that the Asian Games provide an important lens through which to understand Taiwan's identity and international standing. Through inter-ministerial collaboration and the professional efforts of the curatorial teams from the NMTH and National Cheng Kung University (NCKU), sport is elevated beyond the playing field and news headlines to become a cultural force that fosters social dialogue.

gratitude for the MOS' strong support since the signing of a memorandum of understanding in 2024. Through the assistance of the Department of History at NCKU and the National Sports Training Center, the museum has reexamined the history of the Asian Games and the life stories of athletes, ensuring that these important memories of Taiwanese sport are preserved and made visible to future generations.

- ▶ Minister of Sports Lee Yang stated that the exhibition aims to allow the public to once again experience Taiwan's record of being seen by the world through sport

NMTH Director Chang Lung-chih reflected on the museum's longstanding interest in sports history and expressed

The MOS noted that preserving and reinterpreting Taiwan's sporting memory is not merely about commemorating medal-winning moments, but also about building a shared sporting heritage. Through systematic historical research, professional digital archiving of sporting artifacts, and oral history projects documenting the experiences of sporting pioneers, the MOS is gradually transforming scattered pieces of sporting history into nationally significant cultural assets. This exhibition represents an important milestone in the development of Taiwan's sports culture and sporting heritage.

During the curatorial process, the MOS served as a key platform for interdisciplinary collaboration. By incorporating professional museum curation techniques, historical sports materials have been transformed into engaging and emotionally resonant narratives. This development symbolizes a new era in the diverse application of sports culture, in which sport serves as one of the most vibrant cultural symbols of national identity. The exhibition features nearly one hundred valuable artifacts resulting from recent efforts in historical research and nationwide collections inventory, including: Historic Treasures: the gold medal won by Taiwan's football team at the 1958 Tokyo Asian Games, a bronze statue of the "Iron Man of Asia," Yang Chuan-kwang (Maysang Kalimud), and the running shoes of renowned track athlete Wu Ah-min. Personal Manuscripts: original training schedules belonging to triathlon legend Wu Chin-yun, known as the "Queen of Triathlon." Contemporary Heroes: personal items from elite athletes, including boxing star Chen Nien-chin, "Taiwan's Fastest Man" Yang Chun-han, and inline speed skater Huang Yu-lin.

The exhibition also introduces a series of creative merchandise featuring playful contrast-themed designs, such as a grass owl transformed into a track athlete and an octopus reimagined as a boxer. These designs challenge stereotypes related to gender and physical ability while promoting the values of sports equity and inclusion. Beginning in May and June, NMTH will host a series of major public programs, including: a conversation on memorable athletics stories between national treasure Wu Ah-min and curator Hsieh Shih-yuan on May 10; a sharing session by tennis legend Lu Yen-hsun on May 23, reflecting on his 20-year professional career; and a series of June events featuring discussions on mental resilience led by sports psychology coaches, behind-the-scenes stories from veteran sports broadcaster Hsu Chan-yuan, demonstrations of traditional Central Asian wrestling (Kurashi), and autograph sessions with former Asian Games women's volleyball national team players.

The MOS warmly invites the public to visit the exhibition, celebrate Taiwan's sporting heritage, and build collective momentum in support of the Asian Games Aichi-Nagoya 2026. 再現運動記憶「亞洲在場」特展盛大開幕 運動部攜手文化部 將賽場榮耀轉化為國家級文化資產

運動部、文化部與國立臺灣歷史博物館強強聯手，策劃「亞洲在場：臺灣與亞洲運動會特展」，於5月6日盛大開幕。運動部李洋部長及文化部李遠部長今日出席表示，本展是繼「青春動滋券×文化幣」與「雙百萬運動漫畫徵選」後，兩部會深化合作的又一里程碑，更展現運動部致力於保存國家運動史料、強化社會溝通，將珍貴文史轉化為全民共享文化資產的決心。

運動部李洋部長表示，身為過去參與了2次亞運的前選手，雖然都只得到銅牌，但真的很期待這次展覽，選手經歷訓練、低潮、重新站起的歷程，其實跟每個人面對人生挑戰的時候很相似，希望大家來亞運特展走走，藉由展覽看見選手的心路歷程。他也表示，名古屋亞運即將於9月登場，這不是一次性的國際賽會，而是臺灣向世界證明的機會，希望藉由亞運特展，藉由認識楊傳廣等前輩們為臺灣努力的故事，再次感受臺灣被世界看見的紀錄，也一起為亞運選手集氣。

文化部李遠部長指出，亞運特展不只呈現運動員的表現，還有整個戰後亞洲的變遷，而運動非常適合作為文化內容，文化部與運動部短時間內已經展開許多合作，此次特展也是雙方跨域深耕的展現。亞運是理解

臺灣身分認同與國際定位的重要窗口，透過跨部會協作與臺史博、策展團隊的專業投入，讓運動不僅止於賽場與新聞，更能成為引發社會對話的文化力量。

臺史博張隆志館長則回顧了館方長期對運動史的關注，並感謝運動部自113年簽訂合作意向書以來的大力支持，將珍貴的文史資料及生命史提供給博物館。透過國立成功大學歷史學系與國家運動訓練中心的協助，重新梳理亞運歷史與運動員生命軌跡，讓這些屬於臺灣的運動記憶得以被看見與永久保存。

運動部表示，推動運動文化記憶與再現，不只是為了留住獎牌的瞬間光榮，更是為了建構屬於臺灣人的運動記憶。透過系統性的文史調查、專業的文物數位典藏，以及體壇先輩的口述歷史紀錄，運動部正逐步將散落在民間與賽場邊的零星碎片，再現為國家級的運動文化資產，本次特展正是這項運動文化基礎工程階段性的重要成果發表。

在本次策展過程中，運動部扮演了關鍵的跨域溝通平臺角色。透過引進博物館界的專業策展技術，將原本生硬的運動史料轉化為具感染力的敘事空間。這象徵

臺灣運動發展已正式邁向運動文化多元應用的新紀元，使運動成爲國家認同中最具生命力的文化標誌。展場中呈現的近百件珍貴文物，爲運動部近年深耕文史研究、推動全國性文物盤點的結晶，包括：歷史瑰寶：1958年東京亞運足球金牌、「亞洲鐵人」楊傳廣銅像及田徑名將吳阿民運動鞋；生命手稿：「三鐵皇后」吳錦雲的訓練課表原稿；當代英雄：「拳擊女王」陳念琴、「臺灣最速男」楊俊瀚、及滑輪溜冰選手黃玉霖等現役名將的貼身物件。

展覽同步推出反差萌系列文創商品，以擅長飛行的草鴉化身田徑選手、柔軟章魚變身拳擊手等反差設計，巧妙打破性別與體能的刻板印象，體現運動平權精神。今年5、6月起，臺史博將推出一系列重量級推廣活動，包括5月10日國寶吳阿民與策展人謝仕淵對談田徑趣事、5月23日網球傳奇盧彥勳分享20年職涯心路歷程、6月運動心理教練探討心理韌性、名主播徐展元分享轉播熱血時刻，另有亞洲特色克拉術表演、亞運女排國手簽名會等。

運動部誠摯邀請國人蒞臨觀展，在守護記憶的過程中凝聚向心力，爲即將到來的2026年名古屋亞運加油。「亞洲在場：臺灣與亞洲運動會特展」即日起至115年10月18日，於臺史博展示教育大樓4樓第2特展室展出。更多活動資訊請密切關注臺史博官網(www.nmth.gov.tw)及臉書(<https://www.facebook.com/NMTH100>)，歡迎民衆踴躍參加。

Ministry of Sports Congratulates CTOC on Securing the 2029 TAFISA World Congress and Continuing to Advance Sport for All and International Engagement

The Chinese Taipei Olympic Committee (CTOC) successfully secured the hosting rights for the 2029 TAFISA (The Association for International Sport for All) World Congress and General Assembly in Taiwan, while Vice Chairperson Chen Mei-yen was elected to the TAFISA Executive Committee. These achievements highlight Taiwan's long-term efforts in promoting sport for all and international sports exchange. The Ministry of Sports (MOS) extended its congratulations to the CTOC and recognized its longstanding contributions to international sports engagement and sports diplomacy.

The MOS noted that the TAFISA World Congress is a major international forum for sport for all, bringing together representatives from more than 100 countries and about 500 delegates to discuss topics such as health promotion, sports inclusivity, and international cooperation. Having previously hosted the event in 2009, Taiwan has a strong foundation in organizing international sport-for-all conferences. Securing the hosting rights again will further enhance Taiwan's international visibility and provide an important platform to showcase the achievements of its "sport in daily life" and nationwide health promotion policies.

The MOS also stated that it will work closely with the CTOC, local governments, and relevant agencies to provide administrative and organizational support for the event. By showcasing Taiwan's sport-for-all initiatives—including national fitness assessments, recreational sports, multicultural participation, and community sports—the congress will offer the international community a closer look at Taiwan's diverse achievements in promoting sport for all.

The MOS emphasized that hosting the 2029 TAFISA World Congress is not only an opportunity to stage a major international conference, but also a platform to deepen sports diplomacy, expand international partnerships, and strengthen global sport-for-all exchanges. Moving forward, the MOS will continue supporting the CTOC and Taiwan's sports professionals in international organizations, encouraging greater participation in global sports governance and contributing to the development of sport for all worldwide.

The MOS will work together with the CTOC to use the 2029 TAFISA World Congress as an opportunity to present Taiwan's friendly, safe, healthy, and vibrant sports environment to the world, using sport as a bridge to strengthen international engagement and expand the influence of its sport-for-all policies.
